

FIVE KILLED.

Fatal Wreck on the Great Northern Railroad.

TRAIN TOOK FIRE.

Train Ran Over an Embankment, a Gas Tank Exploded and Seven Passenger Cars Burned.

St. Paul, Minn., April 16.—Running at a speed of 49 miles an hour on a straight track, the Great Northern westbound Oriental limited was derailed Monday at Bartlett, N. D. Five persons were killed and a score or more injured, some of them seriously. After the wreck a gas tank exploded and the train took fire, seven passenger coaches being destroyed, the sleeper and observation cars escaping the flames.

There is said to be some evidence that the rails had been tampered with. Officials of the road say that the track in this vicinity had been in apparently first class condition and they are unable to account for the wreck on any other theory than that it was the deliberate attempt of miscreants to wreck the train.

The dead: W. B. Jones, mail clerk, Grand Forks. Four unidentified foreigners, believed to be Greeks.

The wreck occurred on the line dividing Nelson and Ramsey counties, the mail car completely jumping over the engine and landing in Ramsey county, while the remainder of the wrecked train burned in Nelson county.

The train carried a large number of passengers. The uninjured worked heroically to rescue the imprisoned and it is thought all but three were removed. Those killed were in the smoker, which was telescoped by the express car in front.

All the cars comprising the train were destroyed, with the exception of the Standard sleeper and the observation car. Every car except the observation car left the track. The other cars, barring only the sleeper, went over a ten-foot embankment. Then a gas tank exploded, setting fire to the cars which had been thrown down the embankment. The report of the explosion was heard here, a distance of four miles.

Many thrilling escapes are reported and numerous acts of heroism are told by the survivors. Mail Clerk William B. Jones was killed, but his body was taken from the mail car by Mail Clerk Forness, who entered the burning car three times to rescue Jones. While thus engaged Forness was severely burned.

Passengers give special praise to News Agent W. H. Green, of St. Paul, who worked heroically in rescuing injured and helping those in the wreck, although he himself had been badly hurt.

IN THE HAND

Of Emperor William the World's Peace Rests.

SAYS MR. CARNEGIE

President Roosevelt Warns the New York Peace Conference Not to Attempt Too Much.

New York, April 16.—Warned by President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Root that if success is to crown the efforts of those who are working for peace among the nations of the world, their endeavor must be along practical lines; that they must not, by insisting upon the impossible, put off the day when the possible can be accomplished, the national arbitration and peace conference which is meeting in this city under the presidency of Andrew Carnegie, began its real activities on Monday with two crowded sessions in Carnegie hall.

Secretary Root also took occasion in his speech to point out the propositions which the United States government will have to make at the coming conference at The Hague. He warned his hearers not to expect too much at this second conference.

The president, in a letter to the congress, expressed the hope that the coming conference might result in the adoption of an international arbitration treaty. Secretary Root, after seconding this hope, declared the United States thought it proper to urge again the discussion of the subject of the limitation of armament of the nations on land and sea and the abolition of the practice of using force in the collection of debts owed by one nation to the citizens of another.

Mr. Carnegie, in an address to the congress, paid a tribute to President Roosevelt and expressed the wish that Mr. Roosevelt might be the peacemaker of the future. He declared, however, that Emperor William is the man, among all men, who holds the peace of the nations in his power. In this connection Mr. Carnegie said it was unjust to speak of the emperor as a menace to the peace of Europe, adding that in 20 years upon the throne the German ruler had split no blood, nor caused an international war.

At the afternoon session the speakers were Secretary Root, Gov. Hughes, of New York; Mayor McClellan, of this city; and Mr. Carnegie.

It was at the afternoon session that the letter from President Roosevelt was presented and read. Last night the speakers included Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, member of the French senate and head of the international conciliation committee, and Secretary Oscar S. Straus, of the department of commerce and labor.

A BIG CAMPAIGN FUND.

Chicago, April 16.—Chicago's police department contributed thousands of dollars to the democratic campaign fund in the recent mayoralty campaign and has contributed in a like manner to whichever party was in power as long as the oldest officers on the force can remember according to revelations made Monday to the civil service commission by police officials.

Among the officers who offered this testimony were Inspectors Revere and Kelly, Capt. McWeeney and Lieut. Jenkins. Capt. McWeeney confessed that he had aided in the collection of large amounts of money to be used in the recent city election.

According to the civil service commission every man who engaged in the collection of the fund, even the patrolmen who contributed, is made liable to indictment by the grand jury under the provisions of the civil service act. One person, however, is provided that any person discharging any of the provisions of the law shall be fined not less than $1,000 and may be imprisoned in the county jail for not to exceed six months. The commission has signified its intention to sift the matter to the bottom, but it is said that it will not prosecute the under officials who, it is asserted, merely carried out the commands of higher officers.

THAW'S MANY GOOD DEEDS.

father of Young Harry Was Man of Generous Nature.

Any Pittsburg will tell you that Mr. Thaw, Sr., was one of the most ideally philanthropic men that city ever knew. His charities were not heralded in the papers, but went where they did the most good. Mr. Thaw helped a class which never made their wants known, the shabby genteel, the having-seen-better-days element. To save the feelings of these Mr. Thaw had an original plan. In his home, the old Thaw mansion, in Pittsburg, there was a side door leading into Mr. Thaw's study. Every morning from nine to ten Mr. Thaw personally opened this door, through which came persons desirous of his aid. The purpose of this was that the servants in the household would not know who applied to him for help. This same plan was in force in his private office. No one knew who came there except the persons themselves. On one occasion William, an old lady who drove an ash cart, lost his mule by death. His heart was sore for the mule was his only means of earning his living. He tearfully told the story to a lady who was a member of the church Mr. Thaw attended. "Go tell Mr. Thaw about it," said this lady.

The lady was afraid he would not believe him, so the lady gave him a line vouching for his truthfulness. The next morning William went to the Thaw house and was admitted through the private door. The great financier received him kindly, and William tremblingly told his story.

"Well, what do you want me to do?" asked Mr. Thaw.

William told him he would like $50 to buy a new mule.

"Well, I won't give you $50," said Mr. Thaw, and William lost heart. Mr. Thaw, however, continued: "I'll not give you $50 for a mule, because you can't get one that is worth anything for that amount, but I'll give you $100, if that is any use to you."

William was almost overcome, his joy was so great, and among the thousands of mourners at the funeral of the great hearted man none was more sincere than William.—M. A. P. in America.

It Is The Way We Live

Some Interesting Opinions of an Expert on the Subject of Rheumatism

Being the Most Common of All Chronic Diseases, it is at the Same Time Very Easily Prevented and Readily Cured at Home.

It will not doubt be a source of much interest to you to learn of the interview recently accorded your correspondent by the student and expert Dr. George Edmund Flood.

"Most of us," claims this specialist, "eat too much and drink too little water. Water is nature's greatest cleanser, and is more valuable internally than outwardly. It is essential to the health, as in passing through the system, the vital organs are washed of impurities which would otherwise find harmful lodgment; furthermore, the healthy tissues of the body are to a very large degree composed of water. Drink water, lots of water, less tea and coffee, the change will be immediately noticeable. It is a better appetite, freer action of the kidneys, absence of bowel trouble and an improvement generally in the health."

"Were it possible," says the doctor, "to impress upon the people the importance of this water-drinking habit, rheumatism would in a short time become a rare disease instead of being, as it is now, the most common of all human ailments. At the same time, rheumatism and its kindred diseases of the kidneys and bladder, when properly understood, are not difficult of treatment."

"In my practice I have used the following prescription with great success. You are at liberty to make it public. It is as follows:

Concentrated Barkola Compound, one ounce; Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, one-half ounce; Fluid Extract Prickly Ash Bark, one-half drachm; Aromatic Elixir, four ounces. Directions: One teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime. Children, one-quarter to one-half tea-spoonful after each meal."

"After giving us an opportunity to read it, Dr. Flood continues: 'It is very simple. Now any druggist can and will fill that prescription at a very nominal charge. There is nothing to prevent any one from getting it filled or taking it as directed afterwards. I don't believe there is any case of rheumatism so chronic, so severe, that, if the sufferer will take this prescription for from four to six weeks, it can't be cured. It is also exceedingly valuable in all forms of kidney and bladder trouble, such as Bright's disease, diabetes, cystitis and all other affections of the urinary organs.'

Go Slow Young Men.

Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia, advises students against deciding upon a vocation too soon. According to Dr. Butler, a man should not go to college with any settled convictions as to what he is to do. Dr. Butler holds that college is the place to make such a decision. The opportunities there are so many and varied that, according to the president, every man ought to find something to suit him. He implies that by the end of his senior year a man ought to have acquired enough knowledge to enable him to determine his right vocation.
